Mike Tomlin Bio

Mike Tomlin was named the 16th head coach in Pittsburgh Steelers history on January 22, 2007. Hired at the age of 34, Tomlin became only the third head coach hired by the Steelers since 1969.

Through seven seasons, Tomlin has accomplished many things that have never been done in the team's storied history. His 71-41 record (.634) is tied for the best start in franchise history, and he became the youngest head coach in NFL history to both coach in and win a Super Bowl when he led the Steelers to a 27-23 victory over the Arizona Cardinals in Super Bowl XLIII. By winning the Super Bowl in only his second season as a head coach, he also became the fastest to win a Super Bowl title in Steelers history.

In Tomlin's seven years as head coach, he has guided the Steelers' defense to the NFL's top ranking in total defense four times, including most recently in 2012. He has also sent a total of 40 selections to the league's annual Pro Bowl, including two following the 2013 season. Additionally, Tomlin was appointed by Commissioner Roger Goodell to the NFL's Competition Committee in March, 2013.

Tomlin has reached the playoffs four times in his seven seasons, including two trips to the Super Bowl (XLIII and XLV).

Tomlin is one of only seven coaches in league history to win a Super Bowl within his first two seasons as an NFL head coach. Tomlin is the only head coach in Steelers history to lead the team to two Super Bowls in his first four seasons at the helm, including an appearance against the Green Bay Packers in Super Bowl XLV. He is one of only two Steelers head coaches to win three division titles in his first four seasons.

Tomlin is very active in the community and was recognized, along with his wife Kiya, in February, 2013, by the Chuck Cooper Foundation with the Career Achievement in Leadership Diversity and Community Service Award. He has also been a spokesman for the Steelers' and UPMC Sports Medicine's "Don't Hit the Head, Don't Use the Head" program, which is in conjunction with USA Football's Head's Up program that promotes safety in all levels of football. Tomlin is also a member of the All-Pro Dad Team and serves as an honorary chair for the annual Extra Mile golf outing, which provides support for parochial elementary schools educating children of inner-city families.

Arguably one of his best coaching performances may possibly have come in the second half of the 2013 season. Despite an 0-4 and 2-6 start to the season, the Steelers finished the regular season surging to a 6-2 second-half record, falling just short of the playoffs. However, he rallied the team despite numerous injuries on both sides of the ball, to stick together and finished second in the AFC North.

The 2013 campaign also saw quarterback Ben Roethlisberger, wide receiver and team MVP Antonio Brown and running back Le'Veon Bell break numerous regular-season records for the Steelers. Brown and safety Troy Polamalu were each selected to the Pro Bowl following the season.

In 2012, Tomlin led the Steelers to a 27-10 victory over the New York Jets in the home opener, becoming the first coach in team history to win his first six home openers. The Steelers finished the season with the top-ranked overall defense (275.8 ypg) and finished first in passing defense (185.2 ypg).

In 2011, Tomlin led the Steelers to a 12-4 record, marking the second straight season the team posted 12 wins, which was only the second time in team history it has been achieved. The Steelers finished the season with the top-ranked total defense (271.8 ypg) and scoring defense (14.2 ppg). Pittsburgh posted a 7-1 record at home in 2011, for the second time in Tomlin's career (2007). He also had five players (Roethlisberger, Mike Wallace, Maurkice Pouncey, Polamalu and Brown) selected to the Pro Bowl following the season.

Tomlin's seven road wins during the 2010 regular season tied a Steelers record previously set in 1978 and 2004. The Steelers finished second in total defense under Tomlin's guidance in 2010, allowing only 276.8 yards per game. Pittsburgh led the NFL and set a team record in rushing defense, yielding only 62.8 yards per game (1,004 yards), the third-best total in NFL history dating back to 1970. The Steelers also established an NFL record in 2010 by not allowing an opponent to rush for more than 75 yards in any of their first eight games during the regular season.

In all, the Steelers' defense led the NFL in 2010 in rushing yards allowed, points allowed (232), touchdowns (22), quarterback sacks (48), rushing average (3.0), yards per play (4.5) and yards allowed on first down (4.08). It finished second in the league in passing average (6.31), turnover advantage (+14) and red-zone efficiency (40.0, tied).

Under Tomlin, the Steelers broke new ground on offense in 2009. Pittsburgh's offense ranked seventh in the NFL (ninth passing, 19th rushing) but became the first unit in team history to boast a 4,000-yard passer (Roethlisberger), two 1,000-yard receivers (Hines Ward, Santonio Holmes) and a 1,000-yard rusher (Rashard Mendenhall) in the same season. Pittsburgh's defense ranked fifth in the NFL (third vs. run, 16th vs. pass) while leading the AFC and finishing one shy of the NFL lead with 47 quarterback sacks.

The Steelers continued to be dominant at Heinz Field under Tomlin in 2009. Pittsburgh finished with a 6-2 home record after finishing 7-1 (2007) and 6-2 (2008) at home during Tomlin's first two seasons.

Tomlin finished the 2008 season with a 12-4 record and his second consecutive AFC North Division title, becoming the only Steelers head coach to win division crowns in each of his first two seasons. He also set a record with 22 regular-season wins in his first two years at the helm and is the only Steelers head coach to win at least 10 games in each of his first two seasons. Tomlin's .688 winning percentage (22-10) after two years is the best in Steelers history.

The Steelers' defense was dominant under Tomlin's guidance in 2008, leading the NFL in total defense (237.2), pass defense (156.9), points per game (13.9), total yards per play (3.9), rushing yards per attempt (3.3), passing yards per attempt (4.7) and third-down efficiency (31.4), while finishing second in rushing defense (80.3).

Tomlin led the Steelers to a 10-6 record in 2007 and became just the second coach in team history to post a winning record, win a division title and earn a playoff berth in his inaugural season. Tomlin began his head coaching career by becoming only the second Steelers head coach to win his first three games. During 2007, the Steelers became just the fifth team in NFL history to win their first four home games by at least 20 points.

Tomlin guided the Steelers to the NFL's top-ranked defense in 2007, yielding only 266.4 yards per game. The Steelers' defense ranked third in the NFL against both the run (89.9 avg.) and the pass (176.5 avg.), and also finished third in the league in total yards allowed per play (4.6). Pittsburgh's defense led the NFL in passing yards per play (5.7) and first downs allowed per game (15.6), and finished second in the league in points allowed per game (16.8).

The Steelers' offense finished third in the NFL in rushing (135.5 avg.) during Tomlin's first season, sparked by Willie Parker, who led the league in rushing before injuring his leg in Week 16. Roethlisberger enjoyed a record-setting season during Tomlin's first year, establishing new team records for touchdown passes (32) and passer rating (104.1) while earning his first career Pro Bowl appearance.

Tomlin was the NFL's second-youngest head coach in 2007, and he became only the second Steelers' coach in team history to win at least 10 games during his first year at the helm. The Steelers posted a 7-1 record at home in 2007 and were 5-1 in the AFC North (3-0 at home).

Tomlin spent the 2006 season as the Minnesota Vikings' defensive coordinator. That season, the Vikings ranked eighth in the NFL in total defense and first against the run while not allowing a 100-yard rusher the entire season.

Tomlin was the defensive backs coach with the Tampa Bay Buccaneers from 2001-05. In 2002, Tomlin guided one of the most productive defensive backfields in the NFL, culminating with its performance in Super Bowl XXXVII. The secondary recorded four of the team's five interceptions, returning two for touchdowns, to help Tampa Bay capture the franchise's first Super Bowl title.

Before joining Tampa Bay's staff, Tomlin served two seasons as the defensive backs coach at the University of Cincinnati (1999-00). He took over a secondary that ranked 111th in the nation in pass defense in 1998 and helped them improve to 61st overall in his first season. Under Tomlin's direction in 2000, the Bearcats ranked eighth in the nation in interceptions as well as fourth nationally in total turnovers.

Prior to joining the Cincinnati staff, Tomlin had a short stint on the coaching staff at Tennessee-Martin and then spent two seasons at Arkansas State, coaching wide receivers in 1997 before switching to defensive backs in 1998. Tomlin spent the 1996 season as a graduate assistant at the University of Memphis, where he worked with the Tiger defensive backs and special teams units. He began his coaching career in 1995 as wide receivers coach at Virginia Military Institute.

Tomlin was a three-year starter at wide receiver at William & Mary (1990-94) and finished his career with 101 receptions for 2,054 yards and 20 touchdown catches. A first-team All-Yankee Conference selection in 1994, he established a school record with a 20.2 yards-per-catch average.

Coach Tomlin Press Conference December 30, 2013

Coach Tomlin: Good afternoon. I'll start, as always, quickly with a review of yesterday's performance and then kind of get into some of the season review things. I was pleased with yesterday's performance. I thought it was a definitive victory. But probably one of the most pleasing things was that it wasn't one of our more clean efforts, but we were still able to win the game definitively. I think that speaks to the miles that we covered and how we've evolved as a football team, that we weren't capable of playing our best ball but were able to win the game in definitive fashion. What I mean by some of the things we didn't do well in the game but have done in recent weeks, we turned the ball over in the game. We hadn't done that. We didn't get off the field quickly enough in some instances on defense, but actually we did really stand up in the field goal fringe area, obviously with some of those fourth-down stops throughout the game. We dropped a very catchable interception. We had seized some of those moments in recent weeks. We didn't have a lot of splash in the kicking game. That has aided us quite a bit in recent weeks. So to come up short in some of those areas and still win the game in definitive fashion, I thought it just spoke to the overall growth of the group. We are glad to get the win. Obviously, it was a necessary one to keep us in play. And to finish off the regular season in the manner in which needed to be done, appropriately speaking, against an AFC North opponent, in our home stadium and in front of our fans. I appreciate the efforts of the guys in that regard. On the injury front, we had a few minor injuries in the game. Jerrold Johnson hurt his ribs. He will be evaluated today. Steve McLendon re-aggravated his high ankle sprain. He will be evaluated today. A few guys that went into the game with bumps and bruises that weren't able to finish, Emmanuel Sanders being one of them. Obviously, we couldn't get Jason Worilds to a level of comfort prior to the game to be able to play effectively. We will continue to deal with those things. I'll try to keep you guys up to date with a myriad of injury things. Obviously, as we push into the offseason, we have to be on our details of getting the ones injured well, and well quickly. All the surgeries that needed to transpire to this point have transpired minus Curtis Brown. If you remember, he had an ACL tear and an MCL injury. The MCL had to heal before the surgery. It has. I think his ACL surgery is scheduled for this Friday. Other than him, all of the other surgeries that needed to transpire have transpired. Obviously, there may be some things that come up at the end of the year, exit physicals and so forth. We aren't going to rush through any of that. We are going to do what is appropriate in regards to closing this out from a health standpoint to put ourselves in the very best position to be as healthy as we can as we push forward into 2014. In review of the season, and looking back at the season, I like to consider myself an accountability guy and responsibility guy. I know that our team does the same. Our record speaks for itself. We fell short this year of getting ourselves in the tournament to chase the ultimate prize, which obviously every year is our intention. We didn't do enough. We didn't do enough, particularly early this year. I think that's been well documented. I'm really proud of the guys, the way they improved, number-one, and the way they stuck together in the midst of adversity. Obviously, it could have gone several ways. You've been around enough football that you know that people tend to seek comfort or get selfish when things were going the way things were going for us earlier in the season. I give a lot of credit to the character of the people that work, players, assistant coaches and even all throughout the organization. Everyone kept a positive, upbeat and can-do attitude in regards to our then present circumstance. We were able to maintain some sort of relevance and improve and put ourselves in a position that we were in yesterday. Obviously, I am sure there is a lot of reaction to what unfolded yesterday evening and last night in regards to our efforts. For me, we made that bed, like I said yesterday after the game. It's my intention to lay in it in a proper manner, professionally speaking, with honor and the right approach. We stepped into 16 stadiums this year with an opportunity to state our case, and we didn't state a strong enough case, so I am not going to lose a lot of sleep over something that went on in a stadium that we weren't even in. We had plenty of opportunities to state our case. What transpired yesterday was unfortunate for our hopes moving forward, but we have to find a way to accept that and move forward, and I am sure that we will. I'll get an opportunity to meet with the guys today at 2 p.m. and start that process. I think there is also something that needs to be said in regards to this season that I believe in. I believe we have the very best fans in the world. And I would like to thank them for sticking with us throughout what was a trying journey this year. There were many moments during the course of the year where it became very evident to me how special Steelers Nation is. I think about the following we had in London. We went to London as an 0-3 team, and I think about the type of following we had in London, even along the walkway in the bus area after the game when we fell to 0-4. I think about the support we had in New York, coming out of the bye week and going to play the Jets in a road city. I think about the way our fans rallied and supported us here down the stretch with a stretch of home games that were significant in our efforts to stay alive. I don't take it for granted. It doesn't get old. But at the same time, I do want to acknowledge it and thank the fans for riding with us. As we move forward, from a business standpoint and looking ahead to 2014, obviously the necessary business that has to take place, staff things and player things, I'm really just kind of at the very beginning of that. I don't have any strong statements or anything in that regard. I'll do the best I can to answer any questions that you have, but obviously, I am not going to speak inappropriately or too soon in regards to some of the natural business that needs to transpire in all cities in the NFL over the course of the next days and weeks. Those things are reality here. Change is a part of football. Free agency is a part of football. But I won't get into any of that in great detail.

Re: Process for evaluating players and staff:

It's a long and drawn out process for me, something that there is a tendency to try to rush to it and through it. I don't. I take my time. I'll visit with players. I'll set aside blocks of time to do so. I'll evaluate their performance. I'll hear what they have to say in regards to the overall group of the team if you will. I'll do that over the course of the next days or maybe even weeks. I'll have an opportunity to evaluate the staff. Obviously, I'll sit down and map out a plan for moving forward with the Rooney's and Kevin [Colbert] in regards to salary cap, player personnel, looming free agency, draft preparation, etcetera. All of it is normal business for us, but I don't want to rush it. I don't want to make hasty decisions. Obviously, I don't want to make emotional decisions and obviously we've been on an emotional journey. We'll be very deliberate about how we proceed.

Will both coordinators be back next season?

Again like I said, I'm not going to address any of that. Any personnel issues, any staffing issues, is inappropriate. I haven't met with the team and I haven't met with the staff. I will at some point. Obviously, I acknowledge that change is a part of football in staff and in players. But other than that, I'm not getting into that today.

8-8 is 8-8, but do you have a different feel about the way the end of this season was versus the way you left last season?

There are a lot of reasons to be optimistic about what transpired when you look at it over the course of the season. It just speaks to the men that we work with. I learned a lot about them and sometimes you learn a lot about yourself and the people that you work with in the midst of adversity. We had enough adversity, obviously. Starting 0-4 and being 2-6 at the turn, it's encouraging to know the type of men that you work with that are capable of getting singularly focused and tuning out the noise and staying together and continuing to work and improve in the midst of negativity. All of those things are encouraging. But at the same time, as I look back at the body of work, and that's what the beginning of this process is, you've got to acknowledge we are what we are and that's an 8-8 football team on the outside looking in at the tournament. But there is a lot of reason for optimism, a great deal of pride in this group of men that I work with. I just really want to honor their efforts and honor the support and love that we get from our fans.

Coach Tomlin Press Conference December 30, 2013

Was this the most difficult coaching season that you've had?

They're all difficult. I really don't look at it in that way. My job is to provide the team what it needs to be what they're capable of being and that's how I walk in this building every day. Regardless of circumstance, I've got to deliver for them. The circumstances might have been a little different than they were in some years or during the course of it, and we created some of that adversity obviously. But I don't look at it in terms of what I have to do. I just simply do what I have to do in an effort to provide an environment that's conducive to winning and winning consistently and chasing the Lombardi trophy.

How can your team get better in terms of taking care of business against teams that are equally talented or perhaps less talented than you are?

I really don't get into all of that. I'm trying to beat everyone. Where people stand today might be different than where they stood when we played them. I think that's an element of it. I think when we played Detroit they were a division leader, etcetera, etcetera. Teams evolve over the course of the season. You want to be a team that's on the upswing obviously as the season draws to a close so that if you're good enough to get in the tournament, you can have what's necessary to pursue and win the Lombardi trophy. We've got to win every football game. We didn't. We've got to be better. I haven't had a chance to evaluate it from that perspective, but obviously I look forward to doing so.

Re: Handling adversity like injuries differently as a coaching staff:

Obviously, we need to insulate ourselves a little bit better than we did from an injury standpoint. Obviously, I could adjust a little bit better schematically as new positives and new negatives arise as injuries set in and so forth. It's my job to make sure that this group works towards their strengths and works to minimize weaknesses. Obviously, those things change significantly when you have the types of injuries that we had. The ability to adjust, to have a plan and be light on your feet is part of football. To grow over the course of a season, for young players in particular, is a part of football. Those things happened, not quickly enough obviously to get us in the tournament and have an opportunity to move forward. I'll be looking at all of those things and then some moving forward. You can call it assessing blame. For me, it's just looking at it with realistic eyes in an effort to be better the next time and that's what I'll do. Like I said earlier, I'm a believer in accountability and responsibility, and from that standpoint I accept responsibility for what transpires within our organization.

Did Kelvin Beachum show you enough at left tackle that going into next season that could be his position to lose?

He did a very good job of representing what he's capable of, but I'll expect him to continue to improve. I will not allow him to have an opportunity to exhale or seek comfort in regards to that. He's got a big offseason and training camp ahead of him, but he's in pretty decent position from that regard.

The focus and commitment and the staying with it you were talking about, was that something that emerged from this team or was that something that was brought out by a group of leaders or the staff? Where did it come from?

I think it's all of the above. When it's time to circle the wagons, you don't care where great ideas come from and perspective and personalities and I saw it from a myriad of places or a great number of people over the course of the journey. Sometimes it's just as simple as being an energy-bringer as opposed to an energy-drainer. We've got a lot of guys that fall into that category, but like I said it is special

When you're evaluating personnel, how much are leadership characteristics involved in a decision like that, even if a player may not be what he was three years ago?

It's an element, but it's not an element that's exclusive to every particular individual or decision that needs to be made. Largely speaking as you go through this thing, you make necessary decisions and you better have enough guys with experience and natural leadership capabilities and personalities and so forth. Obviously, that will be a part of discussions as we decide what needs to be done from a personnel standpoint, not only in free agency and team development, but also in the draft.

Would you describe your offense as being ahead of your defense right now and maybe even going into 2014?

No, I wouldn't say that. I don't think statistics support that. I think we're 13th in the league in defense or whatever and 20th or so in offense. There are many ways to cut it, obviously. We're an 8-8 football team and that's the bottom line from my perspective. However you cut the mustard, it is what it is. We've got three phases that we look to be as strong as we potentially can be in it in an effort to increase our chances of winning. We've got some work to do in all three phases, obviously.

Are any of your injured reserve guys not on course to be ready for the offseason or camp?

I have no idea. I haven't even begun to ask some of those questions yet. I'm sure I'm going to be getting into those things in the upcoming days.

Re: Using a timeout on the punt at the end of the first half yesterday:

They held their punt team and then when they ran their punt team out on the field, we were in the process of exchanging defense to punt return. At one instance, I thought we had 12 guys on the field. With the new participation rule, you don't have to snap the ball to get penalized for 12 defenders on the field. So I didn't want them to potentially penalize us for 12 people on the field. I called a timeout to preserve that so if we did have 12 on the field that we wouldn't be penalized prior to the ball being snapped. I knew that the play clock was running down, but I wasn't interested in getting into that. I didn't want to have a participation issue. We had some last minute adjustments from a personnel standpoint with Jason Worilds and others being out. That's why I utilized the timeout.

So the timeout was for personnel, not to save time on the clock?

It was for personnel, certainly.

Is there a plan in place for Keith Butler to succeed Dick LeBeau? Is he the coordinator in waiting?

Again, there is no plan in place specifically and I won't be talking about any personnel or staffing issues in great detail today.

Did your coaching philosophy on the no-huddle change as the season evolved?

No, it changes as circumstances evolve. I think week-to-week you ask yourself questions relative to that and I've kind of outlined it in great detail in here over the course of many weeks throughout the course of the season. There is a myriad of decisions that need to transpire as you weigh the options of no-huddle or how much or what personnel group to run it out of or multiple personnel groups to run it out of. Those are discussions that we have as a staff week-in and week-out.

Coach Tomlin Press Conference December 30, 2013

Is this the greatest input Ben Roethlisberger has had into the offense, both in meeting rooms and on the field since you've been here?

No, it's probably consistent with what's transpired in recent years with him. As we get down to the course of the season and we find rhythm or continuity in terms of the people that we're utilizing and how we're playing. He's been a part of the process. He did a great job of it this year, obviously, and not only in terms of his input but his leadership. We've got a bunch of young guys. I really thought he answered the bell for us in a big way in that regard and others. But just specifically in regards to input, he's been involved in input for a number of years here, as all veteran signal callers should be.

As far as the no-huddle and the opponent, do you not look how much success you've had with it in the past games?

No, it's not opponent only. It's circumstances and I think I was pretty clear in discussing that. Most of the time when I outline the variables that are significant in terms of determining how much or if we do utilize it, I talk about us and our people and so forth.

Is there an area or two from the season that you're pleased with the improvement you saw? And conversely, is there an area or two where you weren't pleased with the progress you made?

I really haven't had enough time probably to take a step back and give you a fair assessment of it from that standpoint. Obviously, there are plenty of things to be proud of, there are plenty of things that need to improve. I think the overwhelming feeling that I have as I sit here right now is just a great deal of pride in the group and their willingness to stick together and their ability to maintain focus and improve over the course of the season. I think that's probably the theme that I'll remember regarding this group more than anything else. But there are a myriad of things and specific things that I'm sure that we got better at that need acknowledgment and things that we fell short.

Did you watch the San Diego-Kansas City game with the guys? Did a bunch of the guys watch the late game together?

I don't know what they did. I went home.

Re: Challenge flexibility moving forward based on what has transpired the last few weeks:

Obviously, there is a lot of work that needs to be done from an officiating standpoint. I think it has been played out and well documented over the last several weeks, not only in the stadiums we have played in but others. I look forward to being part of the process of helping it improve. I think that's the mentality that we all should have. We are all blessed to be a part of the NFL. I take a great deal of pride in that. I always want to be somebody that is part of the solution as opposed to someone that is complaining and moaning about the problem. I intend to roll my sleeves up and offer any insight that I can in terms of making this the very best it can be moving forward. Like I said when I opened this thing, I am not looking to assess blame on anybody else about our current position other than ourselves.

Re: Reaction to the San Diego game:

What do you think?

I don't know.

Come on. You're a smart guy.

Coach Tomlin Press Conference December 30, 2013

When you saw Kansas City line up for the field goal, could you see on the television that San Diego was committing a penalty?

Yes.

Do you think having full-time referees could help?

I think that and other things are up for discussion but I'm not going to get into that, just like I am not going to talk about personnel and staffing. It's inappropriate for this setting. Having an opportunity to be a part of the competition committee and the number of meetings we have scheduled moving into the offseason in an effort to ensure that football is the very best product we can provide for the fans, I look forward to being a part of that.

Did LaMarr Woodley need surgery for his injury?

It's a rehabilitation thing. There are no procedures scheduled at this juncture.

When you saw they missed the penalty call on the field goal, did you say anything or yell at the television like a lot of people would?

I'll leave that between myself, my sons and our basement.

Have you received any calls from the league about the officiating from yesterday's Chiefs-Chargers game?

I have received calls, texts and emails. Those guys do a great job of communicating during difficult times. I appreciate that. But it doesn't change what transpired.

Re: Evaluating yourself this offseason:

I'll evaluate everything that I do and how we go about it in an effort to be better. Obviously, I will leave the evaluation of my performance where it should be, to the Rooneys.

Re: Ike Taylor possibly playing safety:

That hasn't been discussed formerly in any form or fashion. Ike and I talk about that from time to time because a lot of guys that have played his position have extended their careers in that manner, particularly guys that have the type of size that he has. Nothing has been discussed formerly in any form or fashion, and I don't think anything needs to be read into that at all.

Re: The fake punt call in overtime during the Chiefs-Chargers game and should there have been a review:

I haven't kept up with the press releases and stuff coming out of New York in regards to some of those things. I will let those guys comment on it. I think that's appropriate. I will follow up if given an opportunity. But I am not going to say anything before they do.

Re: Rationale behind instituting the new rule on field goals and extra points:

It was for player safety. There were guys coming in twos through the gap and some of the ugly things that were transpiring with people toppling over people and things of that nature. I think that was the original intention of the rule.

What officials are responsible for making that call?

There were two guys positioned behind that group, but again, I'll let those guys make comments in regards to what mechanically was done correct or incorrect in that time period. I think it's just best that I wrap a bow around the season and move on from there.

Coach Tomlin Press Conference
December 30, 2013

Do you have a time table or deadline for decisions about your coaching staff?

No.

Does it mean anything to you that you still haven't had a losing season as a coach?

Nope.

2013 Season-in-Review Notes

TEAM NOTES

Nice Finish: After a slow start to the season, Pittsburgh finished 6-2 in the final eight games, including winning three straight to close out the season for the first time since 2009. It was the fourth time (2008, '10, '11) that the Steelers went 6-2 in the final eight games of the regular season under Head Coach Mike Tomlin.

Air Attack: The Steelers offense had a lot of success in 2013 through the air. Below are some highlights:

- QB Ben Roethlisberger recorded the most completions (375) and attempts (584) in a single regular season in franchise history.
- Roethlisberger totaled the second-most passing yards (4,261) and tied Terry Bradshaw (1978) for the second-most passing touchdowns (28) by a Steelers' player in a single regular season (Roethlisberger, 32 in 2007).
- WR Antonio Brown recorded the most receiving yards (1,499) in a single season for a Steeler, and his 110 receptions were the second most in the regular season in franchise history (Hines Ward, 112 in 2002).
- Pittsburgh recorded 4,017 net passing yards, the third-most in a single regular season (4,148 in 2009, 4,054 in 2011).
- With 4,306 gross passing yards this season, the team finished with the third-most in Steelers' history (4,496 in 2009, 4,333 in 2011).

- 32 pass plays of 25+ yards was the fourth-most for a Steelers team (39 in 2009, 34 in 1995, 33 in 2010), dating back to 1994.
- Completed 377 passes, a new team record for the regular season.
- Registered a completion percentage of 64.3, the second highest in franchise history (65.5 in 2009).
- Passer rating of 92.3 is the fifth-highest by Pittsburgh in the regular season.
- 207 passing first downs is the third most by the Steelers (221 in 2011, 210 in 2009).
- Pittsburgh scored at least 20 points in each of the last nine games (31, 23, 37, 27, 20, 28, 30, 38, 20). It is the first time it has scored at least 20 points in at least nine consecutive regular season games since 2002 (9).

Award Winners: The 2013 season saw many Steelers' players get awarded for their individual performances. Pittsburgh is sending multiple players to the Pro Bowl for the 13th straight season and for the 22nd time in the last 25 seasons. A Steelers player earned a player of the week or month honor four times during the 2013 season. Below is a breakdown of the various honors earned by Steelers' players in 2013.

QB Ben Roethlisberger

- Named AFC Player of the Month for November (Oct. 31-Nov. 25) after registering a passer rating of 100.5 and leading the Steelers to a 3-1 record. Also threw for 1,188 yards, 11 touchdowns and just three interceptions.

- Earned AFC Offensive Player of the Week honors for his performance in a Week 11 victory over Detroit. Roethlisberger completed 29-of-45 pass attempts for 367 yards with four touchdowns and zero interceptions for a season-high passer rating of 119.4. He also led a 16-play, 97-yard touchdown drive in the fourth quarter to take a 30-27 lead. It marked the ninth time Roethlisberger has been named AFC Offensive Player of the Week, and first time since in 2011 (Weeks 5 and 8).

WR Antonio Brown

- Named second-team All-Pro by the Associated Press.
- Selected to the Pro Bowl as a both a wide receiver and punt returner, joining Philadelphia's DeSean Jackson (2010 Pro Bowl) as the only players to be named to the Pro Bowl team at two different positions in the same season. It marks his second selection to the Pro Bowl after previously earning a trip to Hawaii after the 2011 season as a punt returner.
- Voted by his teammates as the Steelers' 2013 Most Valuable Player. It was the second time in Brown's four-year career that he has received the honor. He became the 11th player in team history to be named Steelers' Most Valuable Player on multiple occasions.

S Troy Polamalu

- Earned his eighth Pro Bowl selection after recording 85 tackles, two sacks, two interceptions, a career-high five forced fumbles, one fumble recovery and one defensive touchdown. Also named to the Pro Bowl following the 2004-08 and 2010-11 seasons.
- Named AFC Defensive Player of Week 12 after he registered four tackles, one sack, a single-game career high two forced fumbles, one fumble recovery and one pass defensed in the Steelers 27-11 victory at Cleveland. It was the seventh time he has been named AFC Defensive Player of the Week and the first time since Week 17 of 2011.

K Shaun Suisham

- Named the AFC Special Teams Player of the Week for his clutch performance in a win over the Baltimore Ravens in Week 7. Suisham was a perfect 4-for-4 (34, 28, 38, 42) on field goals, including a game-winning 42-yarder as time expired. It was the fourth time Suisham was selected as Special Teams Player of the Week in his career.

Late Season Success: Under Head Coach Mike Tomlin, the Steelers are 25-14 during the regular season and postseason in December/January. The Steelers were 3-1 this season with wins coming at Heinz Field and at Lambeau Field. The 25 wins are tied for the sixth-most in the NFL (2007-present).

Pittsburgh won their Week 17 matchup versus Cleveland 20-7, making them 12-2 in Week 17 games since 2000, which is tied for the best record in the NFL over that span (Green Bay).

Below is a look at all the games the Steelers have played in where the temperature was below 20 degrees:

*Playoff Game

Heinz Field Advantage: Pittsburgh closed out the regular season at Heinz Field by winning five of its last six home games.

The Steelers own the best home record in the NFL with a 244-95-1 record (.719) since 1970. Pittsburgh is 75-28-1 (.726) at home since Heinz Field opened in 2001, which is the third-best winning percentage in the NFL during that time span. Only six opponents have registered multiple regular-season victories at Heinz Field. Below are the top five home records since 2001:

Team	Record	Win Pct.
New England Patriots	87-17	.837
Baltimore Ravens	79-25	.760
Pittsburgh Steelers	75-28-1	.726
Indianapolis Colts	75-29	.721
Green Bay Packers	73-30-1	.707

In the first seven seasons under Head Coach Mike Tomlin, the Steelers are 41-15 at home during the regular season, which is the fourth-best home record in the NFL during that time. Under Tomlin, Pittsburgh has won at least five games at home each season, including a 5-3 record in 2013. The last time Pittsburgh did not win at least five home games in a season was 2003. Since 2004, Pittsburgh and New England are the only teams in the league to register at least five wins at home during each regular season.

Pittsburgh finished the 2004 regular season with an undefeated (8-0) home record for only the third time in team history and for the first time in 25 years.

The Steelers finished the 1979 regular season with an undefeated home record (8-0) and eventually won Super Bowl XIV. The Steelers were also undefeated at home (7-0) in 1972.

The following is a look at the list of the Steelers' records at home since 2004:

Year	Record
2004	8-0
2005	5-3
2006	5-3
2007	7-1
2008	6-2
2009	6-2
2010	5-3
2011	7-1

Defense Feels At Home: Pittsburgh's defense gave up 20 points or less in five of eight home games this season, including only seven in a Week 17 victory over Cleveland and 10 in a Week 10 victory over Buffalo. In each of those games the Steelers did not allow a touchdown until the final two possessions of the game.

Pittsburgh gave up 27 points to Detroit in the first half of a Week 11 victory but held them scoreless in the second half and forced three turnovers. The Steelers yielded 40 points in Week 3 against Chicago in part due to five turnovers, including two the Bears brought back for touchdowns. Pittsburgh allowed 34 to Miami but provided an interception returned for a touchdown by S Troy Polamalu.

Pittsburgh's 18.1 points per game allowed at home are the fewest in the AFC since the start of 2012.

	2012-13	2012-13
Team	Home GP	Points Per Game Allowed at Home
Pittsburgh	16	18.1
Cincinnati	16	18.3
Denver	16	19.4

Since Dick LeBeau has been defensive coordinator (2004-present), the Steelers have allowed an average of 16.0 points per game at Heinz Field, which is the second-lowest in the NFL over that time span for points given up at home during the regular season (Baltimore, 15.8).

Controlling The NFC: The Steelers have won 31 of their past 44 regular-season games versus teams in the NFC, dating back to 2003, including an 8-4 record since the start of the 2011 season. Pittsburgh's eight wins are the fourth-most by an AFC team against the NFC (nine wins by KC, DEN and CIN).

In 2013 Pittsburgh played the NFC North. The Steelers fell to Chicago and Minnesota before closing out their NFC slate with a win at home against Detroit and at NFC North Champion Green Bay. Under Head Coach Mike Tomlin, Pittsburgh is 20-10 against NFC teams (including the postseason).

The Steelers are 104-63-1 all-time against the NFC in the regular and postseason, including 60-20-1 at home. Since 2009, Pittsburgh is 9-1 against the NFC at Heinz Field.

The Steelers are 6-2 versus the NFC in the Super Bowl.

Facing The Champs: Pittsburgh split the season series against Baltimore in 2013, which makes the Steelers 5-7 when facing the defending Super Bowl champion, including the postseason, since 2000.

The Steelers' have won two of their last three games over defending Super Bowl champions (24-20 at the New York Giants in 2012, 19-16 win at home versus Baltimore and a 20-22 loss at Baltimore).

The other three wins since 2000 were a pair of victories over Baltimore during the 2001 season after the Ravens won Super Bowl XXXV and a win over the Patriots in 2004, the season after New England won Super Bowl XXXVIII.

The following is a listing of the games Pittsburgh has played versus defending Super Bowl champions since 2000:

Year	Team (Super Bowl champion)	Result
2013	Baltimore Ravens (XLVII)	L, 20-22

2010	New Orleans Saints (XLIV)	L, 10-20
2008	New York Giants (XLII)	L, 14-21
2005	New England Patriots (XXXIV)	L, 20-23
2004	New England Patriots (XXXVIII)	L, 27-41 (AFC Championship)

2001	Baltimore Ravens (XXXV)	W, 26-21
2001	Baltimore Ravens (XXXV)	L, 10-13

In Control In Cleveland: Dating back to 1999, Pittsburgh has won 12 of 15 games in what is now called FirstEnergy Stadium, including a 27-11 victory in Week 12 in 2013. The Steelers 12 wins in Cleveland since 1999 lead all NFL teams. Pittsburgh's .800 winning percentage on the road against the Browns ranks first in the NFL among teams who have played at least six games there.

In the 15 games played in Cleveland since 1999, Pittsburgh has outscored the Browns 348-166. Of the 15 games, the Steelers held Cleveland to single digits seven times, including two shutouts. The most points the Browns have scored at home against Pittsburgh since 1999 was 23 (2000).

Under Head Coach Mike Tomlin, the Steelers are 5-2 at Cleveland, which ties with Baltimore (5-2) for the most regular-season wins at Cleveland during that time span. QB Ben Roethlisberger is 8-1 as a starter on the road against the Browns.

So Close: The Pittsburgh Steelers and Baltimore Ravens have played some of the most memorable games in the NFL over the years and the 2013 season was no different, with both games being decided by a total of five points.

Out of the 39 times the two teams have met, including the postseason, 25 have been decided by single digits and 16 of those have been by three points or less. Nine of the last 11 matchups have been determined by three points, including each of the last five games with Pittsburgh winning two to Baltimore's three.

LOOKING AHEAD...

The Steelers will have the 15th overall pick in the first round of the 2014 NFL Draft, which will be held May 8-10.

Thanksgiving Matchup: In 2013, the Pittsburgh Steelers and Baltimore Ravens faced off on Thanksgiving for the first time, with the Ravens' winning at home, 22-20.

It was the seventh time the Steelers played on Thanksgiving (1-6) and the first time since a 19-16 overtime loss at Detroit in 1998. The Steelers only win on Thanksgiving came at the Chicago Cardinals in 1950 (28-17). This year marked the first time Pittsburgh faced an AFC team on Thanksgiving.

Date	Opponent	Result	W/L
11/23/39	at Philadelphia	17-14	L
11/28/40	at Philadelphia	7-0	L
11/23/50	at Chicago Cardinals	28-17	W
11/24/83	at Detroit	45-3	L
11/28/91	at Dallas	20-10	L
11/26/98	at Detroit	19-16 (OT)	L
11/28/13	at Baltimore	22-20	L

Dating back to 2008, Pittsburgh was the first team to play an away game on a Thursday after playing on the road the previous week.

Fighting Through: The Steelers offensive line had to deal with a number of obstacles during the 2013 season. The line started three centers as Pro Bowler Maurkice Pouncey was lost for the season in the first game of the year and his replacement Fernando Velasco suffered a season ending injury at Baltimore on November 28. The Steelers started seven different line combinations in 2013, including three in the final seven games.

Despite dealing with injuries that forced multiple guys to play multiple positions, the line has had some strong performances:

- In the final seven games, the offensive line only allowed one sack or less six times. Pittsburgh attempted 246 passes in those seven games while giving up a total of seven sacks.
- In a four-game span (Week 11-14), the offensive line surrendered just four sacks, which was the lowest total in a four-game span during the regular season for a Steelers' offensive line since 2005 (10/23 – 11/13).
- The Steelers did not allow a sack in back-to-back games, at Cleveland and at Baltimore.
- The line cleared the way for Pittsburgh to record over 100 rushing yards in six games during the 2013 season (141 vs. Bal / 108 at NE / 136 vs. Buf / 106 vs. Cin / 151 at GB / 120 vs. Cle). The Steelers were 5-1 in those contests.
- In a Week 16 victory at Green Bay, they helped RB Le'Veon Bell become the eighth Steelers' rookie (dating back to 1960) to rush for at least 100 yards (124 yards on 26 carries and one TD).

A Good 10-Plus Years: Pittsburgh is one of five teams to win at least 100 regular-season games since the start of the 2003 season. They are also second in Super Bowl appearances over that time span and tied for the lead with two Super Bowl victories.

The following are the top-five teams in regular-season winning percentage from 2003-present:

Team	W	L	T	Pct.	Playoff Berths	SB App.	SB Wins
New England	138	38	0	.784	10*	4	2
Indianapolis	123	53	0	.699	10*	2	1
Pittsburgh	111	65	0	.631	6	3	2
Green Bay	106	69	1	.605	8*	1	1
Baltimore	105	71	0	.597	7	1	1

*made the 2013 playoffs

Among The Best: The Steelers win at the New York Jets in Week 5 gave the franchise 600 career wins (including postseason). Pittsburgh is the fourth team in the league, and the first in the AFC, to reach the 600 win total.

The following is a list of the top five teams in the NFL for career wins (including postseason):

Team	Wins
1. Chicago Bears	746
2. Green Bay Packers	728
3. New York Giants	683
4. Pittsburgh Steelers	607*
5. Washington Redskins	587

*Total includes 1943 season when Pittsburgh joined Philadelphia

Additionally, Pittsburgh owns the third-best regular-season record in the NFL since the free-agency era (since 1993) with a 209-126-1 (.624) record. The Steelers are one of three teams (New England, 220 / Green Bay, 212) to record over 200 regular season wins since 1993.

The following is a look at the top three regular-season records in the free agency era (since 1993):

Team	W	L	T	Pct.
1. New England Patriots	222	114	0	.661
2. Green Bay Packers	213	122	1	.635
3. Pittsburgh Steelers	209	126	1	.624

After injuries kept him to only seven games played in 2012, Polamalu played in every game during the 2013 season and made an impact.

INDIVIDUAL SPECIAL TEAMS NOTES

Oh So Suisham: K Shaun Suisham had a career season in 2013. He started off by registering a safety on his first kickoff when Titans RB Darius Reynaud fielded the ball just outside the goal line and then took a knee in the end zone. Suisham made all 15 field goals to start the season before missing two at Oakland in Week 8. Dating back to the 2012 season Suisham recorded a streak of 16 consecutive makes, tying for the longest streak of his career when you include the postseason (16, 1/1/12 – 10/11/12). Since missing the two field goals at Oakland, he made 15 straight to finish 2013.

Suisham finished the 2013 season 30-of-32 on field goals. The 30 field goals set a career-high for field goals made in a single regular season (29 in 2007). He also tied Kris Brown (30 in 2001) for the third-most field goals made in franchise history during a single regular season (Norm Johnson, 34 in 1995 and Gary Anderson, 33 in 1985).

His field goal percentage of 93.8 is a new franchise regular season best (min. 15 att.), surpassing the 93.3 he recorded in 2010 (14-15) and Gary Anderson registered in 1993 (28-30).

He made eight from beyond 40 yards in 2013. Including the postseason, he has made 21 straight field goals between 40-49 yards, which is a personal best. His last miss from that range was on 1/1/12 at Cleveland.

Suisham clinched a Week 7 victory for the Steelers over Baltimore with a 42-yard field goal as time expired. Suisham has eight career game-winning field goals, including six as a Steeler.

Since the start of the 2012 regular season, Suisham has made 58-63 field goals (92.1).

Suisham has a current streak of 126 consecutive PATs made as a Steeler. Since October 4, 2009, Suisham has made 146 straight PATs, which is the longest streak of his career.

Aug. 10, 2013

Heinz Field (51,966)

PITTSBURGH – The Steelers lost their 2013 preseason opener to the New York Giants.

The Giants forced the Steelers to punt on their first possession of the game. Early in the third quarter, QB Landry Jones and RB Baron Batch collided, which resulted in a fumble. Jones recovered the football but was tackled in the end zone for a safety and the Giants took a 15-6 lead.

The Steelers defense came up big early in the fourth quarter when the Giants fumbled the football on their own 16-yard line. The ball was recovered in the end zone by LB Adrian Robinson to cut the Giants' lead 15-13. But Brown added a 47-yard field goal late in the fourth quarter to seal the win for the Giants.

Game #1

Tennessee 16, Pittsburgh 9

Sept. 8, 2013

Heinz Field (61,585)

PITTSBURGH – The Steelers lost their 2013 home opener to the Tennessee Titans, 16-9. It marked the Steelers first home-opening loss since the 2002 season.

On the opening kickoff, Titans RB Darius Reynaud fielded the ball just outside the goal line, and then took a knee into the end zone for a safety. It marked the first time that there was a safety on the opening kickoff since September 18, 1988 (New York Giants vs. Dallas Cowboys).

Midway through the second quarter, QB Ben Roethlisberger's pass to WR Emmanuel Sanders was picked off by CB Alterraun Verner. Tennessee then went 49 yards on 12 plays on a drive that took up almost seven minutes of clock time. RB Jackie Battle scored on a three-yard run to cap off the drive to give the Titans a 7-2 lead.

Late in the third quarter, K Rob Bironas connected on a 26-yard field goal to give the Titans a 10-2 lead. Bironas made a 44-yard field goal midway through the fourth quarter to extend Tennessee's lead, 13-2. And with less than four minutes remaining in the game, Bironas connected on a 27-yard field goal to give the Titans a 16-2 lead.

Late in the game, Roethlisberger led the team on a nine-play, 75-yard drive that was capped off with a four-yard touchdown pass to WR Jericho Cotchery. On the drive, Roethlisberger surpassed 30,000 passing yards to become just the 35th quarterback in NFL history to throw for at least 30,000 yards.

Despite the loss, the Steelers' defense held its opponent to less than 17 points for the ninth-consecutive home opener. Dating back to last season, this marked the seventh game in a row where the Steelers' defense did not allow a single touchdown in the first quarter of a game.

MetLife Stadium (76,957)

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. – The Steelers beat the New York Jets, 19-6, at MetLife Stadium for the franchise's 600th win. The Steelers became just the fourth team in NFL history, and first AFC team to accomplish that milestone.

K Nick Folk gave the Jets a 3-0 lead late in the first quarter when he connected on a 25-yard field goal. Pittsburgh though would score on its next three possessions with help from K Shaun Suisham. Suisham nailed a 46-yarder, a 33-yarder and then a 48-yarder with less than a minute remaining in the half to give the Steelers a 9-3 lead. Folk responded with his 39-yarder with two seconds left in the second quarter. The Steelers went into halftime with a 9-6 lead.

On Pittsburgh's first drive of the second half, the team faced a third-and-one on at its 45-yard line. QB Ben Roethlisberger's play action fake froze the Jets' defense, and WR Emmanuel Sanders was wide open in the middle of the field. Sanders hauled in a 55-yard touchdown, his longest career reception, and the Steelers extended their lead to 16-6.

New York drove to the Steelers' 23-yard line on their ensuing possession, but QB Geno Smith's throw was intercepted by S Ryan Clark. It marked Clark's 14th career interception. Suisham connected on his fourth field goal of the game, this one from 32 yards out to give the Steelers the decisive 19-6 win. The Jets drove into Steelers' territory late in the game, but Smith was intercepted near the goal line by LB Lawrence Timmons.

The Steelers' defense recorded season highs in sacks (3) and takeaways (2). The defense also held the Jets to 3-of-11 (27%) on third-down conversions.

Dec. 29, 2013

PITTSBURGH – Pittsburgh ended its 2013 campaign with three straight wins, including a 20-7 victory over the Cleveland Browns in the season finale at Heinz Field. With the win, the Steelers recorded at least eight victories for the 10th straight regular season.

On the Steelers' first drive, QB Ben Roethlisberger and WR Jericho Cotchery connected on two straight plays. First, Roethlisberger and Cotchery converted a third-and-10 with a 12-yard pass, and on the very next play, Roethlisberger threw a nine-yard touchdown pass to Cotchery. It marked Cotchery's team-leading 10th receiving touchdown of the season.

Late in the second quarter, RB Le'Veon Bell scored on a five-yard run to give the Steelers a 14-0 advantage. Bell finished the game with 96 yards from scrimmage to give him 1,259 on the season, passing Franco Harris (1,235) for the most yards from scrimmage by a rookie in a single-season in team history.
